ROLL CALL TO BEGIN NOV. 16

EVERY FAMILY TO HAVE CHANCE TO GIVE.

RED CROSS IS WORTHY

D. A. Caldwell Points Out Some of the Work Done by International Organization.

The 1926 annual Red Cross Roll Call, a challenge to the citizens of Nodaway County to show their appreciation of the splendid work being done by this vast humanitarian organization, commences Tuesday morning.

Under the direction of Glen Reece, county chairman, every family in this county will be given an opportunity to join the Red Cross. The scale of memberships is such that no limit is put on the amount any person subscribes to the roll call.

The Red Cross is known everywhere, but just as a reminder to those who do not realize the wide varieties of service rendered the various activities are here briefly outlined:

Local. 1. Home service. Aid to ex-service men and their families. 2. Junior Red Cross—Educational activity in the schools. 3. Home Hygiene and care of the sick. Nutrition. 4. First aid and life saving. 5. A full time, experienced and trained executive secretary and competent assistant.

National. 1. Disaster relief. In the past 21 years aid has been given in 854 disasters in the U. S. Of these, 55 occurred during the past year, whereas the average yearly number since 1905 has been 40. This shows the extent to which the Red Cross work is increasing.. 2. Home Service—Family and individual service given to 242,000 men now serving in the U. S. army, navy and marine corp. 83,000 cases per month for ex-service men. 3. Home hygiene and care of sick. 835 chapter nurses daily demonstrating this work. 4. Nurses Reserve. 43,000 registered for immediate mobilization.

Foreign—During 1925-26 relief has been given in 15 disasters in foreign countries.

Nodaway County is fortunate that it has never been a victim of disaster, it was pointed out by D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, today, but he added, "some of our not far-distant neighbors have and no one can tell when we may suffer. As the population of our country increases, disasters also will grow in number. The Red Cross needs YOUR membership. You need the Red Cross. Join."

Sisters to Leave Railroad Hospital

Four Nurses Trained Here, Then Sent To Moberly, Will Be Placed In Nebraska City Institution.

Four Catholic sisters who were trained as nurses at St. Francis Hospital here and who have been serving in the Wabash Hospital at Moberly, Mo., are to be transferred to the new hospital which the Franciscan order is completing at Nebraska City, Neb., but first will return here for a month of rest, it was announced today.

Sisters of St. Francis have been nurses at the Moberly hospital since its founding in 1891. It is the policy of the order, however, to establish new hospitals of its own, and the sisters at Moberly will be needed at the new institution at Nebraska City, whose completion is expected about the first of the new year. They will be succeeded at Moberly by registered, trained nurses.

A tribute to the work of the sister-nurses was paid by Dr. R. D. Streetor, chief surgeon at the Wabash hospital.

The four who are transferred are Sister Superior M. Ursula, Sister Georgia, Sister Petronilla and Sister Clarissa.

The Order of St. Francis now has hospitals at Maryville, Oklahoma City and Hannibal, the new one at Nebraska City and an orphanage at St. Joseph.

J. F. Montgomery Improved.

Mrs. J. F. Montgomery returned last night from St. Joseph where she accompanied Mr. Montgomery Monday afternoon. Mr. Montgomery remained to undergo treatment at the Missouri Methodist Hospital. His condition is improved and an operation will be unnecessary at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Evans announce the birth of a daughter last night at their home near Ravenwood.

Another Arrest on Bad Check Charge

Charles Bigley, Arrested by Deputy Sheriff at Burlington Junction, Also Faces Robbery Charge.

Charles Bigley was arrested last night by Deputy Sheriff Van Reavis on a charge of giving a bogus check for $5 to Thomas Ulmer, drawn on the First National Bank of Burlington Junction. Bigley was able to give bail for $1,000 at his preliminary hearing this morning before Judge J. H. Sayler, justice of peace. His father, John W. Bigley, signed his bond.

Bigley also faces a charge of highway robbery which is pending against him and will come up at the January term of circuit court.

CLUB WORK TO BE DISCUSSED

HOME ECONOMICS SPECIALIST COMES NOV. 23.

TO SEND DELEGATES

Support of Clubs Will Help Make Best Work Possible, Says Fleetwood.

A meeting will be held in the county agent's office at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday, November 23, for the purpose of planning the work to be carried on by the Home Economics Extension Department. Miss Fra Clark, Home Economics Extension Specialist, will attend this meeting and help to plan the year's work.

"This work is available to any community or club in the county," J. Ross Fleetwood said today. "If any community or club is interested it can secure the work by sending two delegates to this meeting.

"It does not mean that it will be necessary to send delegates in order to take up the work, but a much better understanding of the work will be had and then each club will be enabled to have something to say in the selection of the work.

"It is no longer possible for the Extension service to send out workers on any particular at any time," Mr. Fleetwood continued. "The time of the workers is so taken up that at the beginning of the year definite plans have to be made as to the kind of work which will be carried on in each county, then follow that plan.

"If your club will send in their representatives to this meeting it will then be possible for Nodaway County to secure enough specialist help to put over a good piece of work this year.

"Miss Clark will be able to devote the time between 10 and 12 o'clock to a discussion of individual farm home problems if you care to come at that time to see her," the county agent said.

125 Mothers Attend P.T. A. Circle Meetings

Fifty-One Members at Jefferson Meeting; Music and Recitations Are Feature.

More than 125 mothers and teachers attended the meetings of the circles of the parent-teacher association at the Garfield, Jefferson and Franklin schools yesterday afternoon.

Miss Ruth Lowery talked at the Garfield school on correct literature for children.

The Jefferson school had a program of music and readings. Miss Sells, with the assistance of the third and fourth grades gave a demonstration on music teaching in the public schools. Bernard Linthicum and Gertrude Middleton gave readings. Dorothy Woodburn gave an original story on Thanksgiving. Mrs. Alva talked on "Music in the Home." At the close of the program Miss Dena Hartman, Miss Rosella Froman and Miss Helen Spangler served a luncheon to those present. They were assisted by the girls of the third and fourth grades.

Fifty-one women attended the meeting.

The Franklin circle also met yesterday with a good attendance.

The circles thanked the members of the Girl Reserves of the High School who cared for the small children at the ward schools while the mothers attended the meeting.

At Hospital.

Don Spangler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spangler, underwent an operation for the removal of his tonsils, and adenoids at the St. Francis Hospital today.

WILL SEEK TO REFORM LAWS

DEPARTMENTS TO BE REDUCED, CRIME LAWS SIMPLIFIED.

FORD AND JOB TO AID

Legislature Will Take Up Several Matters Recommended By Groups As Result of Long Surveys.

Two series of measures to reform legal and administrative processes of government will be presented for consideration of the session of the Legislature, which begins in January, by two well organized public groups.

Senator M. E. Ford and Representative William Job will leave for Jefferson City about the first of the year to attend the session. Senator Ford is serving the last session of his term and Mr. Job, who was re-elected at the election Nov. 2, will commence serving his fifth term as representative. Mr. Job was first elected at the election in 1916, re-elected in 1918, defeated in 1920, then elected in 1922, 1924 and 1926.

The Missouri Association for Criminal Justice will offer a sheaf of bills to simplify and strengthen the State's system of preventing crime, apprehending and convicting criminals and safeguarding the innocent. This organization was created at the suggestion of the State Bar Association and has received strong backing throughout Missouri.

The Association for Economy in Public Expenditures will present proposals to reduce the number of bureaus and departments in State government, reorganize their functions and introduce a general budget system. This group is an outgrowth of the Associated Industries of Missouri, strength of which was shown in the recent election by adoption of its workmen's compensation law and defeat of one it opposed.

Careful Investigations.

A lengthy survey of conditions, with study of thousands of cases, was made by the Criminal Justice Association as the foundation of its work. Experts conducted the investigations under direction of leading lawyers and business men. A similar inquiry was made into conditions of the administration of government in Missouri, compared with other States, by representatives of the Public Expenditures Association, supervised by leading business men.

Essentially, the measures of both groups are nonpolitical in nature, though politics might be inserted into the effect to make them laws by officeholders whose powers might be trimmed or incumbency ended. A consolidation scheme fostered by former Gov. Hyde in 1921 was wrecked when the Democrats submitted the proposals to a referendum the next year, and the voters vetoed them.

It is not expected that all of the criminal justice recommendations will be presented as bills at this session of the Legislature. To begin with, there would be too many to receive proper consideration. Again, directors of the movement do not think the time is ripe for others. Finally, some of the subjects are of controversial nature, and the association does not care to endanger its whole project by creating opposition over a bill or two.

State Police Proposal.

For instance, there is the recommendation for State police, made because of the inability of rural Sheriffs to cope with modern conditions brought about by good roads and other factors. Finances and restrictions of law tend to tie the hands of Sheriffs. However, it does not appear that a widespread public sentiment has been stirred up for State police, but labor groups have indicated opposition, fearing the police might be held as a club over their heads.

Local Health Officer Visits Medical Society

Dr. C. P. Fryer, county health physician, with Dr. H. L. Russell of the state board of health spent one day this week in Tarkio when they met with the Atchison County medical society making plans to install a full-time health department in that county. The federated clubs of the county are sponsoring the movement and in the recent election the health question was one of the main issues.

Doctor Fryer has helped establish other full-time health departments including the ones in Holt and Marion counties.

Dr. Russell who spent two days here has returned to his home.

To Livestock Show and Insurance Meet

Hal T. Hooker will leave tomorrow for Kansas City where he will attend the American Royal Livestock Show. On Wednesday he will leave for Jefferson City to attend the state meeting of mutual insurance companies as a delegate from the Nodaway County Mutual Insurance Company. The other delegates from this county is J. S. Casteel of Ravenwood, who will leave for Jefferson City Tuesday evening.

W. A. Berg will leave tomorrow to attend the American Royal Show. Others intending to attend the Royal are C. D. Bellows and Dale Bellows.

LITTLE FARM LABOR NEEDED

CORN SHUCKING HERE FINDS NO GREAT SHORTAGE.

C. OF C. FILLS CALLS

Men Needing Jobs and Farmers Wishing Help Are Brought Together.—Prevailing Rate 5 Cents.

With the corn shucking season getting under full headway, farmers of Nodaway County expect slight, if any, labor shortage.

Until the latter part of this week, applications for corn shucking jobs just about equaled the requests for help filed by farmers with the Maryville Chamber of Commerce. In the last few days a few jobs have gone unfilled.

The weather this fall has been such that farmers have been able to do more of their own work than was the case last year, when an early snow required prompt gathering of the crop and resulted in a rather severe labor shortage.

The common rate being paid to corn shuckers is 5 cents a bushel when the employe is given board, and 6 cents when he furnishes his own. Last year a rate as high as 7 cents a bushel was paid in some instances. The rate varies somewhat with the kind and condition of the field in which the shucking is to be done.

Most of the corn crop in this county is harvested by local labor, it is said. Occasionally a "floater," working his way north or south, will apply at the Chamber of Commerce for work, but they are infrequent.

The chamber is carrying on this year the work it did last year in attempting to bring together the man seeking work and the farmer needing help.

Ingerson Funeral To Be Held Tuesday

The body of George M. Ingerson, who died last Monday night at the home of his son, C. P. Ingerson of Glendale, Cal., will arrive in Maryville tomorrow morning.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon conducted by Dr. C. C. James, pastor of the First Methodist Church. Burial will be in Miriam cemetery. C. P. Ingerson will accompany the body here.

Family Away, Two Beds Begin to Blaze

Fire of mysterious origin was discovered at 9:30 o'clock last night in the home of Charles Gilbert, 723 East Thompson street. Although no one was at home, two beds were ablaze when the fire department arrived. The beds were in the same room, and the blaze was easily extinguished with chemicals. There was some damage to wood work and a carpet.

Gilbert was in the country, shucking corn, and no other members of the family were present when the alarm was answered.

Filipino Delegation to Visit Washington

Manila, Nov. 13.—The situation following abolition of the Philippines board of control has cleared sufficiently to enable the independence group to predict that a strong Filipino delegation will be sent to Washington as soon as possible.

It is also expected that the Insular legislation will be convoked soon.

Miss Lillian James, an instructor in the St. Joseph schools, is spending the week end with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. C. James.

Charles M. Chenoweth went to Excelsior Springs yesterday afternoon.

NEW TROUBLE FOR TAX PLAN

ANOTHER REPUBLICAN LEADER DIFFERS WITH COOLIDGE.

FARM RELIEF FIRST

Chairman Green of Ways and Means Committee Gets Protests From Home State of Iowa.

Washington, Nov. 13.—A shadow of trouble ahead in Congress for the Coolidge-Mellon tax reduction proposal was seen by politicians in a statement released today by representative Green of Iowa, chairman of the House ways and means committee, criticising the plan.

Green's committee must originate any tax reduction legislation, but his comments reflected the skepticism of several other senators and representatives concerning the wisdom of the plan.

"The plan of making a reduction in the payment of next year, either on the personal income tax or that of corporations, is workable, but if adopted, there will be much conflict as to how such a reduction is to be applied," Green stated.

"I do not believe that reduction of personal income taxes by a uniform percentage for all taxpayers can be made satisfactory. While it has been up before and the original proposal was my own, the circumstances now are very different, both as to the small taxpayer and those having the largest incomes."

The Coolidge-Mellon proposal provided a 12½ per cent reduction on income and corporation taxes to be paid next year, beginning March 15.

It is known that some of the farmers constituents of Green are clamoring against any reduction, emphasizing their belief that farm relief should take precedence in disposing of any Treasury surplus.

Green's reports from Iowa are known to show about four out of five farmers favoring relief. At the same time, many groups are calling for special treatment or objecting to methods of refund already suggested.

President Concerned Over Mexico's Stand

Washington, Nov. 13.—President Coolidge is concerned over the increasingly difficult relations between this government and Mexico.

He is scheduled to confer today with Ambassador Sheffield and Secretary of State Kellogg on Mexico's continued refusal to satisfy the State Department's demands regarding alleged confiscatory provisions of the alien land and oil laws.

Coffee Drinking Champ Swallows 62 Cups at Sitting

Fergus Falls, Minn., Nov. 13.—The world's longest distance coffee drinking championship remains in the undisputed possession of Gust Comstock.

Although slightly groggy today, Comstock felt no serious ill effects after shattering his own record Thursday by swallowing 62 cups of Mocha and Java, six more cups that his own previous record, made at Hibbing, Minn., two years ago.

Eleven chagrined challengers who thought that keeping up with Gust would be easy dropped out early in the race. The one that stayed the longest disposed of ten and one fourth cups.

For the first hour of the race, Gust was hard pressed by one of the challengers. But this man, as Gust said, was only a "short distance competitor" and soon dropped behind.

Gust is not married. He is 38 years old and his principal profession is coffee drinking. When not enjoying his favorite blend of coffee, he does odd jobs around town. His taste for coffee is such that he drinks about 20 cups on ordinary days, with a little cream and no sugar.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Beattie were guests this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Jay, sr., and Mr. and Mrs. George Jay, jr., of Shenandoah, Ia.

Motor To Bedford.

Miss Georgia Gaynor, Miss Veronica Hall and her father, A. F. Hall, of Parrell motored to Bedford, Ia., on business yesterday.

W. J. Montgomery will leave tomorrow on a business trip to St. Louis.

"Uncle Joe" Will Be Buried Tuesday

Pallbearers To Be Past Commanders American Legion; Escort Of Knights Templar.

Danville, Ill., Nov. 13.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon will be buried Tuesday in the family lot in the Spring Hill cemetery, members of his family announced today.

Pallbearers will be past commanders of the Curtis G. Redden post of the American Legion and the escort of honor will be composed of former commanders of the Knights Templar.

The body will lie in state in the family home between the hours of 10 a. m. and 5 p. m. Sunday.

CLARK STATUE IS DEDICATED

POLITICAL NOTABLES ATTEND BOWLING GREEN CEREMONIES.

"LESSON NATION WIDE"

"Common Honesty" of Missouri Statesman Much needed Now, Says Presentation Speaker.

Bowling Green, Mo., Nov. 13.—Most of Missouri's political notables gathered at Bowling Green today for unveiling ceremonies of a memorial to the late Champ Clark, former speaker of the House and one of Missouri's most distinguished statesmen.

The memorial is in the form of a life size bronze statue of Clark. It was executed by Frederick C. Hibbard, Chicago sculptor, upon order of the Missouri Legislature, which appropriated $25,000 for the work.

Among speakers on the program were Senator James A. Reed, Governor Sam A. Baker and former Governors Majors, Dockery and Gardner.

"This monument," Senator J. D. Hostetter of Bowling Green, chairman of the Clark memorial committee, said in his presentation speech, "though erected by the state of Missouri, is in its influence nation wide and world wide. It was built to benefit all the people and tends to perpetuate the life, character and achievements of one of the greatest Americans of our own generation.

"Probably the greatest lesson which the monument will impart is one much needed in this sordid age when so many public servants are faithless—the lesson of comon honesty. The fierce light of publicity, which enveloped Champ Clark for more than three decades, failed to disclose a flaw in his personal character"

Governor Baker accepted the statue on behalf of the state.

Miners May Accept Government Proposal

English Delegates Approve Plan; Will Get Ballot of Workers for Decision.

London, Nov. 13.—The miners delegate conference today in effect approved the government's proposal for settling the coal dispute which has kept most of Britain's mines and most of her one million miners idle since the coal stoppage began six and one-half months ago.

The approval was in the form of a recommendation that the miners themselves accept the government's terms. The terms were referred to the mining district for ballot of the workers.

Another Kansas City Bank Closes Doors

Terminal Trust Co. Is Placed in Hands of Finance Department as Result of Federal Trusts Failure.

Kansas City, Nov. 13.—The Kansas City Terminal Trust Co., capitalized at $75,000 and with total resources of approximately $600,000, closed its doors today as a result of the closing of the Federal Trust Co. yesterday.

The Terminal Trust Co. had a substantial deposit in the Federal, officials said, and it was decided to place the institution in the hands of the state finance department.

Directors said they believed the Terminal Trust Co. was fully solvent.

Guest at Parcher Home.

George DeVoe of Boston, Mass., will arrive in Maryville tonight to visit his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Parcher, and his aunt, Miss Jessie Parcher, over Sunday. The visitor has been on a southern business trip. He is the son of Mrs. Josephine DeVoe and is connected with Stone & Webster, architectural and engineering firm.

MARIE SET ON FLORIDA VISIT

QUEEN TO GO DESPITE REFUSAL OF FREE TRANSPORTATION.

AT SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

Royal Guest Lays Wreath On Tomb Of Abraham Lincoln.—To Sail Probably December 11.

Aboard Queen Marie's train in Illinois, Nov. 13.—Queen Marie intends to visit Florida, despite the refusal of the Southern Railway to give her free tdansportation.

The trip will be made over the Atlantic Coast Line after her majesty has completed her schedule itineary and visited Atlantic City and White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Asheville, N. C., and Columbia, S. C.

It is believed Queen Marie intends to sail December 11, aboard the White Star liner Majestic. An agent for that company conferred at length with the royal party today.

The special train stopped at Springfield, Ill., for two hours today to allow Her Majesty to visit the tomb of Abraham Lincoln and lay a wreath on the grave of the martyred President.

Dickey Suit Against Star Sale Dismissed

Judge Sustains Defense Demurrers—Journal-Post Publisher to Appeal, He Announces.

Kansas City, Nov. 13.—Defense demurrers and a motion to dismiss, filed in the suit of W. S. Dickey, owner of the Kansas City Journal-Post, to set aside the sale of the Kansas City Star, were sustained by Circuit Judge O. A. Lucas here today.

The suit alleged the newspapers were not sold at the "best price and the best terms obtainable," as stipulated in the will of the late William R. Nelson, founder of the Star.

The newspaper was sold for $11,000,000 to Irwin Kirkwood, editor and associate on the Star, following the death of Kirkwood's wife, Mrs. Laura Nelson Kirkwood, daughter and only surviving heir of Colonel Nelson.

Counsel for Dickey announced they would appeal the decision.

Grandson of Italian Liberator Arrested

Col. Ricciotti Garibaldi and 27 Others Charged With Inciting Spanish Province to Rebellion.

Paris, Nov. 13.—Col. Ricciotti Garibaldi, grandson of the red shirt Italian liberator, and Col. Macia, alleged leader of the recent attempt to arouse the Spanish province of Catalonia to rebellion today were arrested by the French police, along with twenty-six other plotters.

The men were charged with unlawful storing and distribution of arms and munitions.

J. Howard Thompson, Correspondent.

Captain Lee Yaple and the service battery had a visit last week Saturfrom a person of real note. He was Col. John F. Williams, regimental commander of the 128th field artillery, located at Columbia, Mo. After a careful inspection, he said he was satisfied with the condition of things as he found them. Three of the Battery horses have gone blind in recent months, and he told Captain Yaple, that others would be substituted for these.

The Parent-Teacher association was scheduled to meet in regular session last Thursday night, but owning to so many teachers being out of town, the meeting was postponed until Thursday of next week. All are urged to attend and bring two cents for every number of your shoe that you wear. This will provide much fun and laughter and furnish a fund for refreshments.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, held a very interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. G. L. Yaple last Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Jess Jones had charge of the lesson, and Miss Iola Graves gave a reading, and Miss Mildred Severs rendered a piano solo. There were twenty-six persons present. Mrs. Henry Browning and Mrs. Charles Wagner were assistant hostesses.

The ladies of the Industrial Society of the Methodist Church are advertizing many beautiful and useful articles for sale at their bazaar to be held next Saturday in the Armory. Here will be a fine chance to purchase your Christmas packages and presents. Visit the various booths and pick out what you want.

This country sent its men over to France, literally by the thousands and even the millions, to die if need be, so Democracy for the world might be safe and then go wild over its reception of a queen and her party. More than twelve thousand gathered at the union depot, just to look at her, knowing that she would remain as a guest of that city but a few minutes. Ain't folks funny."

The annual bazaar to be given by the Industrial Society of the Methodist church will take place next Saturday, in the armory building on Main street. Great preparations are being made to make this bazaar excel all previous ones. Dinner and supper will be served in connection therewith, and the patronage of the general public is earnestly solicited.

These are busy days for the writer of these notes. Here is a sample of his activities: On Thursday night he went to bed at 12:10 in the morning, arose at 5:30, and drove to Tarkio, where he had breakfast before seven a. m, then drove to the Clarence Lawrence home, twenty miles southeast of Tarkio, and solicited the family for a contribution for the New Methodist Hospital, for which he is working before eight o'clock a. m., then spent the day making twelve other calls, often many miles of travel between the calls, and receiving a contribution, at every call and returned home via Mound City, reaching home at 7 p. m., having driven about 125 miles for the day, beside walking many pieces of miles back into distant corn fields for the purpose of an interview. It is now nearly ten o'clock at night, Friday and he is at his type-writer, getting his "notes" ready as usual for the Saturday's issue of the Democrat-Forum and Tribune.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jones left Thursday for Compton, Cal., to spend the winter. They went via Kansas City, and the Santa Fe railroad. They have two daughters in Compton with whom they will stay this winter. Hosts of friends will wish them a safe journey.

GATHERING SOMETHING BESIDES GOOD WILL

Willie Willis

By ROBERT QUILLEN

"Skinny told me he swiped the bananas I helped him eat an' I felt wicked until he told me afterwards he found 'em in the alley."

"Copyright, 1925, Pub's Syndicate."

Mrs. Etta Anderson of Wray, Colo., returned to Burlington Junction Friday afternoon via the auto route that she might again be at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. S. C. Taylor, who is confined to her room on account of severe illness. Her stay will be indefinite.

The local Independent Order of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, carefully planned and prepared an Armistice Day program for the night of the eleventh of November, and gave it in their hall Thursday night. There were nearly 200 attended. The lodges in Maryville and Wilcox were represented in large numbers. The program consisted of music, both by a local orchestra and an orchestra from Maryville. Both organizations furnished very fine music. There were a number of talks and interesting readings given by the young people, and John Beavens literally convulsed the crowd with his impersonations of Uncle Josh of victrola fame, and Mr. Cook of Maryville gave a reading which was greatly appreciated. At the close of the program a bounteous dinner was served to 180 persons in the dining room of the hall. Two after dinner speeches were made. One by the Rev. A. L. Ragsdale, using the full meaning of appreciation as his theme, and one on the foundations of Odd Fellowship. Both of these addresses were listened to with interest. Homer Carmichael was master of ceremonies and announced the program and introduced the speakers. All went home at a very late hour feeling that they had had a most splendid time.

Rev. J. Howard Thompson was called to Graham last Wednesday to preach the funeral of Mrs. G. W. Herron. She was past 85 years of age and had been ill for some time. She was buried in the cemetery at Graham. Her husband, who is past 91 years of age, will have the sympathy of a large circle of friends. They had been married 67 years and Mrs. Herron was buried on their wedding anniversary. This is the second funeral Mr. Thompson had in this community within a week.

Commissions have been appointed both by the Missouri and St. Louis conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, looking toward merging the two conferences, and thus forming one great state conference. This I think is rather a wise move, as it correlates in a more or less degree all the conference institutions. Nodaway County has a repesentative on one of the commissions in the persor of Dr. C. C. James, who is pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church in Maryville.

The local Christian Church will have its annual home coming on Sunday, November 21. This will be in the form of basket dinner, following the morning service on that day. All members and friends of the church will take notice of this announcement and attend.

Rev. J. Howard Thompson started his ministry in Missouri, in Nodaway County, and at Graham, nineteen years ago last March. The first four days of this week he has been in Graham, working in the interest of the new Methodist hospital, located in St. Joseph, and met again many of his former friends They with their old pastor had many delightful visits. He could not nearly fill all invitations for meals while in the community. Real friends are the greatest legacy one can have.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Huston are mourning the very recent death of their son, Stanley, who died of typhoid fever at his home, south of Maryville, earlier in the week. He was married, and leaves his wife and three children. His funeral occurred in the Christian church here, on Wednesday of this week, the sermon being preached by the Rev. Mr. Rose, the pastor of the Christian church in Clearmont. The entire family will have the sympathy of all.

Charles Anderson, formerly of Nodaway County, but now of near Wray, Colo., came Friday afternoon to visit Mrs. Anderson's mother, Mrs. S. C. Taylor, who is sick. Mrs. Anderson has been here for some weeks previous. He will stay for some time.

Lemuel Timmons, who unfortunately broke his right limb near the ankle joint, several weeks ago, is now so far recovered as to be able to walk up town with the aid of a crutch and cane. He has been a great sufferer.

Every one will remember Miss Lois Shelby of Stanberry. She was stenographer here for a while, in the Northwestern Bank, after it closed. She is now engaged in a like position in Cainsville, Mo. Miss Lois has many friends here.

Prof. and Mrs. H. B. Rutledge, with Mrs. Rutledge's mother, Mrs. Lowry, are visiting another daughter of Mrs. Lowry, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Masters of Kansas City, and incidentally attending the educational meetings being held in the city at this time. They went early enough in the week to see and hear President Coolidge.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Fine of Wilcox had for their guests for a time Sunday afternoon the following Burlington Junction people: Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Staples and two sons, Stanley and Clay, and Mrs. Hannah Staples, and her two daughters, Welthy and Arvilla. All had a fine time.

Fifty Years Ago

(Items taken from the Nodaway Democrat of issue of Nov. 9, 1876).

The following census of Polk township, just taken, has been kindly furnished us by the township assessor, I. N. Wray:

The total population of the township is 5,045; 4,984 whites and 61 colored. Number of white persons that can read and write, 3,113.

Prof. Bush will preach at the Christian Church on next Sunday evening, on the following subject: "The Future and Final Destniy of All Mankind."

Twenty-two marriages were filed for record with Henry Graves, circuit clerk, during the month of October. It was not a good month for matrimony either.

Marve Hosmer has moved his auction headquarters into the room of the Nodaway Valley Bank building immediately under the Democrat office.

There will be a meeting of the County Grange at Maryville on Saturday, Nov. 18, at 1 o'clock for the purpose of electing one delegate to attend the State Grange.

Those who have promised us wood on subscription would greatly oblige us by delivering the same.

The improvements just made on the Nodaway Valley Bank building add greatly to its appearance.

With this number the Democrat enters upon a new year, it being seven years old with this issue. We want to make the Democrat a first-class local paper, and trust that our friends throughout the county will lend their aid in this matter by sending us items of news.

As yet we are unable to say definitely who is the next President of the United States. Samuel J. Tilden is probably the man. This is the situation: 185 electorial votes are necessary to a choice. Tilden has secured 184 of these, leaving out the three doubtful states of Louisiana, South Carolina and Florida.

The Democrats elected every man on their county ticket from representative to coroner, by an average majority of 175 votes. Honest Dave Rea has a majority of 2000 in the district for congress and is again elected. All of the township did nobly on last Tuesday, but little Jefferson is entitled to the palm. She has covered herself with glory. The vote there was 163 Democratic to 17 Republican.

The following were the county officers elected: A. P. Morehouse, representative; P. J. Keeler, treasurer; John Edwards, prosecuting attorney; Joseph M. Cooper, sheriff; J. T. Paquin, surveyor; Frederick D. Snyder, public administrator; Thomas Phillips, coroner.

Today witnesses the opening of the American Royal Livestock show, which will continue until Nov. 20. The Royal has grown to be one of the biggest shows in this country. Entries are drawn from 27 states and Canada. An offering such as this is sure to be ought to be worth the trip down for at least one day.

The state club office has completed checking up the 4-H Club work in Nodaway County during 1926. The records show that seventy three different club members completed the entire project, while an additional thirty-six some work but failed in some particular requirement to complete their work. There were eleven clubs organized and eight of these finished as standard clubs. Four of these finished 100 per cent of those who enrolled. This is a good record for this year but I hope that next year we can have at least twice the enrollment and completions.

Monday, Nov. 22, there is to be a meeting held at Sni-A-Bar farm, Grain Valley Missouri, to study the results of the cattle feeding experiments carried on there by the United States Department of Agriculture. The Missouri College of Agriculture and Sni-A-Bar farm. This meeting should produce interest and value to every cattleman in the county. I am in hopes that a number will be able to attend. The meeting starts at 1:30 p. m. and will be over by 5 o'clock.

Aalost invariably in a year following an abundant crop of cheap corn, the spring litters of pigs are small and the pigs undersized and weak. This is due to too generous feeding of corn to the brood sows. When corn is high a variety of substitutes feeds are fed and more protein is nearly always fed. Naturally every owner wants to winter his brood sows as cheaply as possible. However the cheapest ration in the long run contains enough protein to develop strong, healthy pigs.

Where alfalfa hay, that is not too coarse and has a good green color, is available a good protein feed is readily available. The hay may be placed in racks the first thing in the morning before corn is fed. A five hundred pound sow should eat around one pound of alfalfa hay and four to five pounds of corn.

Where alfalfa hay is not available a very satisfactory ration can be made of 95 per cent corn and 5 per cent tankage feeding about 1½ per cent of live weight daily. Thus a 300 pound sow would receive about 4½ pounds daily. Where oats are available a good ration consists of 75 per cent corn, 20 per cent oats and 5 per cent tankage.

No one of the above rations will prove to be much more expensive than corn and will give surprisingly better results in strong healthy pigs.

A broom, a shovel, scraper and a spray pump with any good spray material will conquer most poultry diseases. Unfortunately they also require energy and it is much easier to put pills in the drinking water after the hens are sick than to scald the fountains and clean the house but not nearly so satisfactory. Furthermore, where too much faith is placed in medicines the real cause is very often not removed. Most diseases are caused by over crowding, poor ventilation, filth, and vermin. Disease is natures method of curing overcrowding but it is expensive, so why not sell off enough birds to give plenty of room for the remainder, insure ventilation and clean up the house and drinking fountains. Just plain old everyday cleanliness and common sense methods of handling will prevent more poultry losses than any medicine.

Dairy cows require more water than they are likely to drink, during the winter if just watered once a day. In Maryland it was found that cows having water before them all the time gave 5 per cent more milk than those watered only once a day. In cold weather cows will drink more water if it is warmed enough to take off the chill.

On Tuesday, Nov. 23, Miss Fra Clark, Home Economics Extension Specialist, will meet with representatives from various womens clubs throughout the county to plan the Home Economics work for the county for the coming year. I hope all the womens clubs in the county that interested will send two representatives to this meeting. Miss Clark will meet individuals between 10 and 12 o'clock and the general meetting will start at 1:30 in the Farm Bureau office.

I have received notice that the government probably will not distribute pyrotol in this district after this Falls delivery due to the decreasing supply of this salvage war explosive. Anyone who is interested in securing a supply of this material had best see me right away for orders cannot be booked much longer.

According to results secured in dry lot feeding of hogs in Iowa, one pound of tankage replaces from 7 to 8 pounds of corn. With this replacement figure in mind it isn't hard to figure whether it is economical to feed tankage with present prices of corn and tankage. With tankage around four cents it is economical to feed so long as 8 pounds is worth more than four cents.

Here Are The Improvements

Review this impressive list of improvements—a notable twelve-months' record of progressive engineering:

A new five-bearing crankshaft (replacing the three-bearing type).
A new two-unit starting and lighting system (replacing the single-unit type).
Air cleaner of improved design.
Spark and throttle levers placed above the wheel for greater convenience.
Rumble seat for Sport Roadster.
Stylish new body lines.
Rich and attractive new colors.
Improved all-steel body construction.
Increased driving vision.
Indirect dial lighting for De Luxe and Sport types.
Far greater riding comfort.
Impressive new smoothness and silence of engine operation.

Greater beauty, greater convenience and remarkable new silence and smoothness of engine operation have followed these vital betterments.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By C. P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer.

Washington.—At the time the late Herbert Quick, novelist, historian of the mid-west and former farm loan bureau member, died, he and his son, Edward, were collaborating on a book, to be called "Mississippi Steamboatin'."

The elder Quick had done none of the actual work when death claimed him but he and his son had discussed the prospective volume fully.

The latter, familiar with all his father's ideas and in possession of the wealth of historical material he had gathered, accordingly went ahead with the task and the book has just appeared in Washington.

The work is unusual in that it bears, together with his son's, the name of a widely known author who was no longer living when the first chapter was written. It might very well have been from his own hand, however, for it has all the distinguishing Quick earmarks.

"Mississippi Steamboatin'" is history but the most exciting kind of history. It is a history of a rip-roaring period. It doesn't bother with characters who shaped the country's destinies in Washington but it does deal with some mighty picturesque individuals.

And then the decline of "Mississippi Steamboatin'," due to railroad competition.

This was unfortunate, the book holds and it has a few words to say concerning the importance of the rehabilitation of navigation on American inland waterways.

This really is the stinger in the whole work. It devotes nearly 350 pages to getting the reader interested for the sake of a few paragraphs calling his attention to the fact that it's a shame we lost this economical means of transportation.

The jazz of pre-secession days, the Quicks confess, somewhat regretfully, is gone forever. Steamboatin' now—what there is of it—is as prosaic as running a freight train. But equally useful. That, too, is emphasized.

We are glad to reveal today that, owing to the advent of the bob, the old gray hair ain't what it used to be.

Hero, Heroine of School Disaster

—NEA, Washington Bureau.

Here are the hero and heroine of the La Plata (Md.) tornado, where 13 children died in the collapse of a schoolhouse. John Marshall Burr, 11, jumped out a window and summoned help when he saw the storm coming. Miss Ethel Graves, teacher of the school, helped many children to safety and was severely injured herself as a result.

Takes Up Golf

Here we have John Heydler, president of the National League, turning to golf instead of baseball for recreation, now that the national pastime is through for the year. In his first round of the mountainous Asheville (N. C.) country club course he turned in a 94.

Burlington Junction

There will be an Armistice Day Union Service in the Methodist Church, tomorrow, (Sunday) night, the program to be given entirely by local talent. Rev. A. E. Raggsdale the pastor of the Christian Church, and Comrade John Greeley will give addresses, and a special musical program will be given under the direction of Mrs. Vern Caldwell, director of the chorus of the church. The public is most cordially invited to attend.

The writer was told by a large number of people, in the South end of the county within the recent days that his notes from Burlington Junction, were read with great interest. This spirit of kindness is greatly appreciated.

Coral Gables to Vote on Municipal Control

Coral Gables, Fla., Nov. 12.—Within a few days this city, one of the three or four youngest in the world, will vote on municipal ownership of a great convention hall and auditorium, street railways, a public golf course and community Country Club, one of the most beautiful swimming pools in the world, and a $50,000 emergency hospital.

There is every evidence at present that the municipal ownership project, which has been put to the voters by the city commissioners, will go through. Two citizens' mass meetings, the Taxpayers League, the local Kiwanis Club, the City Club, the Hotel Managers and Apartment House Owners Association and the Chamber of Commerce, have all unanimously voted approval of the plan.

A French scientist says man's supremacy may give way before the lowly insect. There are times when you can't tell them apart.

"PROSPERITY TO CONTINUE"

1926 BEST IN NATION'S HISTORY, SAYS TREASURY.

1927 OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Bank Deposits Are at Peak and Good Christmas Business Is Forecast by Financial Experts.

Washington, Nov. 13.—The United State will close the year 1926 as the most prosperous in history and enter the new year with unprecedented conditions for continuation of the prosperity wave, Treasury officials said today.

Bank deposits in 28,000 institutions now total more than $48,800,000,000, an increase of about $2,300,000,000 as compared with the deposits last year.

Thrift marked the year. Virtually every time deposit is an individual bank account, and saving in this form increased nearly $4,000,000,000 in one year.

The approaching Christmas season will be one of the greatest buying holidays, federal statistics indicated. Christmas saving accounts amounting to about $1,000,000,000 will be paid by banks early next month and officials estimated that another $500,000,000 would be spent to help fill Santa Claus' bag.

Dr. James Back From Methodist Meeting

Unifying of Work of Church Institutions Is Planned, Says Pastor,—Heard President.

Dr. C. C. James, pastor of the First Methodist Church, returned last night from Kansas City, where he attended a meeting of the Kansas City Area Council of the Methodist Episcopal Church. About 200 selected pastors from Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana were present.

The council discussed the unifying of the work of the Methodist institutions in the Missouri and St. Louis conferences, into which this state is divided, Dr. James said. It was decided to call, for the first time, a joint meeting of the two state conferences, to be held the middle of December, probably in Sedalia. This meeting will be attended by all ministers and by as many laymen as possible, to work out a program for the church in this section.

Representatives of the Methodist world service made reports showing the condition of the work, and Bishop E. G. Richardson of Atlanta, Ga., gave an address on the recent bishops' meeting in Denver.

Dr. James also attended a meeting of two commissions representing the Missouri and St. Louis conferences, appointed with a view to removing the dividing lines and consolidating them into a single conference for the state, with consequent lowering of overhead expense, but a definite decision was not made. Each commission will deliberate and report at a later meeting.

At the meeting of the area council, Dr. James said, it was announced that Dr. J. M. M. Gray, a former pastor of Grand Avenue Temple in Kansas City, had narrowly escaped death in an automobile accident in Pennsylvania, together with Mrs. Gray. Dr. Gray has spoken in Maryville and is well known throughout the Kansas City territory. He now is pastor of Elm Park Church at Scranton, Pa. Both he and his wife were reported in critical condition in a hospital.

Dr. James heard the address of President Coolidge at the dedicatory exercises at Kansas City's war memorial Thursday morning. Although he was 300 feet from the speaker, the President's voice came clearly through a system of amplifiers, Dr. James said.

The Maryville pastor saw Queen Marie's procession pass through the Kansas City streets Thursday night, but he did not trouble to attend the exercises at which she spoke.

Ravenwood Boy, Part Indian, Trains far Track Bare-Footed

(Both photograph and story by courtesy of the Des Moines Register).

A "back to nature" movement has been started at Drake university by Jess Joy of Ravenwood, Mo., part Cherokee Indian track star. Revolting at the custom of wearing shoes, Joy doffs his pedal coverings the moment he can race away from his classes, and haunts the Drake fieldhouse and stadium, where he runs daily in his bare feet and a scant track suit.

Shoes have no place in Joy's life. In the coldest of weather, he trots around the cinder track at Drake with no thought for the stones and cinders, for his feet are apparently tougher than the toughest cowhide. He ran yesterday in the sleety rain in a track shirt and light trunks.

The Indian lad is a sports prodidy. From his Indian ancestry comes the desire for physical freedom, he declares. He shuns the conventions of society—silk socks and patent leather shoes.

Sans shoes, Joy races around the field, tries a broad jump, the hurdles, and the pole vault.

"I run without shoes to develop my legs," Joy, a handsome chap with dark eyes and coal black hair, explained. "At home, I never wore shoes except in the coldest weeks of the winter. I always tried to live close to nature. In the summer time I work in the harvest fields from Missouri to North Dakota and never use shoes. What are they good for?" he inquired.

"Yes, the coach is making me wear spikes sometimes while I run, but it's only an experiment. Maybe I'll like them, but I doubt it."

In spite of his splendid athletic figure and good looks, the Indian freshman student shuns girls.

"You can't dance in bare feet," he said, smiling.

Class at Washington Tours United States

The members of the 5B room of the Washington School are making a trip through the United States and the following letter was sent from the class to friends in Nodaway County telling what they are seeing:

Friends and Readers:

On Sept. 14, at 2:05 o'clock, we the 5B room of the Washington Schol started on an imaginary trip through the United States. A special train was provided which took us direct to New York City. We are having a wonderful trip as we are visiting the most important cities and scenes in United State's Wonderlands.

While visiting in the different parts of our country we note the kinds of dress, the homes, the buildings, the occupations and different modes of travel.

At present we are in St. Paul, Minnesota, and Monday we leave for the west by way of the Northern Pacific railway. While traveling along we have taken pictures and made posters so we can show our friends what we saw and did while we were gone.

The posters we made are as follows: Transportation, New England, New York City, Washington D. C., Chicago, Great Lakes, Niagara Falls, Occupations, Philadelphia, The South, Scenes Along the Mississippi, Denver, The Mountains, Yellowstone National Park, The West, Arizona, and Scenes in the United States.

The trip is being taken under the supervision of the teacher, Anna Mae Holt. We are having a very interesting time. Come and visit us, we will be very glad to tell you about our trip and show you our posters.

Excell in Spelling.

Seven Ravenwood students are given special mention for their excellent work in spelling the past month. They are: Dale Reed, Grace Bishop, Anna Helen Heflin, Martha Beedle, Virginia Brewer, Burt Venable and Mary Catherine Needels.

Cleota Dack Writes Story on the Real Thanksgiving Spirit

Cleota Dack, third grade student at Ravenwood, has written a story on the "Real Thanksgiving Spirit." The story follows:

By Cleota Dack.

On Thanksgiving Day we had planned to go to Grandmothers. Mother had been busy the day before filling large baskets with good things to take with us.

When we woke up Thanksgiving morning it was snowing. Snowing so fast and such heavy flakes that we were afraid to start; and such sad faces as there were. We were just ready to cry when Sue said, "Let us leave the turkey and one basket here and take the other baskets to the poor people."

Mother said we could so we put on our heavy coats, caps and mittens and were ready.

There were four of we children and two baskets of food, so two to a basket we set out.

When we came to the house of some poor person we would knock at the door, give them the fruit, bread or potatoes and go on to the home of some other needy person.

At one place we found there was no bread in the house and all the flour gone. We gave them bread and all the potatoes we had and then told them to wait and see what else they would have to be thankful for.

Our food was gone so we hurried home to tell father about those poor people.

The snow had stopped but it was very cold. Father said "You won't miss seeing Grandma after all, and we can take a bag of food to your poor people on the way."

You may be sure we enjoyed that day, and as we thought of the many things we had to be thankful for that others did not have we were very happy indeed!

Kansas City Teacher Heads State Society

Kansas City, Nov. 13.—Miss Genevieve Turk, principal of the Scarritt school in Kansas City, yesterday was elected president of the Misouri State Teachers' Asociation at a meeting of the asembly of delegates in the ballroom of the Hotel Muehlebach. She will succeed Dr. E. L. Hendricks, president of the Central State Teachers' college at Warrensburg.

John L. Brachan, Clayton, Mo., was elected first vice-president; E. B. Street of Independence second vice-president, and Mis Ethel Hook, Kirksville, Mo., third vice-president.

Members of the executive committee elected were M. G. Neale, dean of education, Columbia, Mo., and Miss Katherine Spangler, Clinton, Mo.

Mildred Gregory, a student in Clearmont High School, has been declared winner of a world wide radio contest which the Henry Field Seed Co. of Shenandoah, Ia., conducted recently for the best essay on Alaska.

The Clearmont high school sent five papers and had the best group of papers of any school, according to the official announcement. The papers were sent by Miss Gregory, Glen Gohn, Lewis Wallace, Juanita Britton and Cynthia Dew.

Program and Box Supper at Prairie Star

Play In Three Scenes Will Be Presented; Recitations To Be Given.

The Prairie Star School near Hopkins is preparing a program which will be given at the box supper to be held at the school next week.

The program follows:—A play in three scenes, Scene I. The Pilgrims of 1621; Scene II. Make Believe Pilgrims; Scene III. Giving Thanks at Thanksgiving Time.

The characters in the play are: Father, Clarence Acklin; Mother, Gertrude Holker; Grandmother, Cleo Morehouse; Josie, Helen Morehouse; Clara, Leota Bonham; Bessie, Marcella Bonar; Tom, Dale Mace; Indians, Harold and Reed Glassford; Others, Eugene Mace, Mildred and Bonnie Peve.

Between scenes there will be a special number by Marcella Bonar and Leota Bonham; a son, Hans and Gretchen by Joe Holker, jr., and Helen Morehouse; a recitation, "November" by Reed Glassford; a recitation, "Thanksgiving Turkey" by Kathleen Glassford; a recitation "What it Takes to Make Thanksgiving" by Eldon Fine.

PICKERING SCHOOL

The Intermediate room taught by A. G. Dempster listened to President Coolidge's speech from the radio at Mr. Sayler's hardward store.

They have organized their room into a House of Representatives, Senate and Speaker, in order to show how any proposed act may become a law.

The receipts taken in at the box supper given Tuesday night by the high school amounted to $41.00. We wish to take this means of thanking the public for their cooperation. The money is to be added to the present piano fund.

HEDGE COLLEGE

The Agriculture Class is studying horses and mules to determine their importance on the farm and how one should take care of these animals.

The D class has finished its preprimer and the Elson primer.

The B health class is making a study of the different common diseases and it is trying to determine methods of preventing these diseases.

Fern Reed finished a health poster which teaches us the advantage of plenty of out-of-door exercise.

Lou Ella and Hubert Maier visited school Monday afternoon.

The Parnell High School will give a play, "His Uncle's Niece," November 18 and 19. The play is a three-act comedy. Speciality numbers also will be on the program.

HOPKINS HEARS FROM MADRID

HOLY FAMILY SCHOOL SENDS PORTFOLIO.

CLEARMONT LETTER

Junior Red Cross Members Show Keen Interest In Foreign Correspondence.

The seventh and eighth grades of the Hopkins school have received a fine portfolio from a school for boys in Madrid Spain through their work in the Junior Red Cross. The pages are bound in heavy leather coverings embossed with the national coat-of-arms.

The Holy Family at Conception Junction, has sent out a portfolio to a school at Koga, Japan, in exchange for a portfolio received from there. Sister Concordia and Sister Francis, who teach the seventh and eighth grades, supervised the portfolios. Included in the book are some artistically mounted leaves, covered with transparent paper for preservation, town paper work, drawings and an original poem are a few of the interesting things in the portfolio.

The freshman and junior classes of the Clearmont High School, have sent out their first letter of exchange for foreign correspondence. The school would prefer to enter into a correspondence first with Belgium. If that is not possible then the second choice is Spain. Mrs. Mary Wallace is the teacher in charge. The letter which will be sent through the Junior Red Cross, is as follows:

Dear Friends:

We suppose you will wonder where this letter came from and by whom it was written.

If you look on the map of the United States you will find, almost in the center, a state named Missouri. Up in the northwest corner you will find Clearmont. It is a small town but a very pleasant place to live, as I believe you will agree when you finish reading this letter.

We really wonder if you are as interested in us Americans and our customs as we are in you. We think the Junior Red Cross is a wonderful plan for bringing us closer together. If we receive a letter from our foreign friends it makes us feel as if we are not total strangers.

Our school is not a large fine place with hundreds of pupils, but we are very proud of our one hundred scholars and our recently built school building; also of our United States flag which is kept floating over the building during the year.

The Board of Education instituted the Junior High School plan, which is the combining of the seventh and eighth grades with the high school. This employs fewer and more capable teachers, as one teacher teaches a certain subject throughout the six upper grades.

The school house is a two story brick structure consisting of a gymnasium, laboratory, assembly hall, lunch room, and eight class rooms. The school house is surrounded by shrubbery and has walks leading around it. A walk also leads from the front door to the end of the school yard.

The lawn is large and grassy, containing about three acres of play-ground. We have a teeter-totter, giant strides, out door basketball court, baseball diamond, and swings for our door sports.

Clearmont, our town, is located in the northwest part of Missouri. It was named after Clear Creek, running south of town. The population is about three hundred. It is hardly more than a village, a trading place for the farmers. We have three churches and twenty business buildings. We have a tourist park, swimming pool, and a "Lost Cabin." The cabin is the home of a thousand and one curios. It is built of logs and is similar to a museum.

Nodaway County is a political subdivision of the State of Missouri. One hundred fourteen of these counties make up the entire state. The population is about ten thousand seven hundred. The county got its name from the Nodaway river running west of our town. It is the largest and most progressive of all counties in Missouri.

The main rivers running through the county are: the Nodaway, Platte, and One Hundred and Two. A branch of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroads follow each of these rivers.

Maryville is the County Seat of Nodaway county, and it has one of the five state teacher's colleges of the state. Our county is not made up of what you would call hilly, but fairly rolling country. Agriculture is the chief occupation. Corn is the principal crop raised in Nodaway. It is followed by wheat, rye, oats, barley, alfalfa, and potatoes. The fruits raised are apples, cherries, peaches, pears, plums, strawberries, and raspberries.

The Angus, Hereford, Shorthorn, and Galloway are the important types of beef cattle in the United States. Nodaway County has one herd of Aberdeen Angus cattle that are world prize cattle.

The largest and best equipped Catholic Monastery of the United States is found in Conception, a little town in this county. The Monastery is divided into two parts; the college and cloister. Also one of the best Convents is located near Conception. The Convent is divided into two parts, the Nunnery and Academy.

Our summers here are warm, and our winters cold. Baseball is the main sport for summer, and skating is a favorite for winter.

We have often imagined we could see your towns with their beautiful ancient buildings, and have wished we could come and see them. We hope we have told you some things about ourselves which you have never heard, and we are anxious to receive an answer. We are

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL — DISTRICT NO. 20.

The following people visited school last week: Mrs. Hattie Guthrie, Misses Dorothy Whitney, Georgie Guthrie and Charlotte McGinniss.

Unaleadian, and Burnadean Harmon and Ross Dowell Weaver were absent from school Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Green of Kansas have been visiting at Mr. and Mrs. Weaver's home.

The school had a short program Thursday, observing Nov. 11, Armistice Day.

The seventh and eighth grades have been making posters this week.

The Agriculture class is making a thorough study of hogs. They expect to go and look at some of the different breeds of hogs soon.

The school expects to start having hot lunches soon.

A revival meeting is being held at the Good Hope Church, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Doughty. The attendance is increasing rapidly. We hope for a still larger attendance.

GAYNOR ECHOES

The Gaynor boys and girls basketball teams played a game Tuesday evening at Gaynor with Sheridan. The girls score was 42 to 5 in favor of Sheridan. The boys game was 13 to 11 in favor of Gaynor.

There was a play given by the Happy Hollow Club Wednesday evening at the Gaynor High School entitled, "The Arizona Cowboy."

The "A" class are learning "Opportunity" one of the poems to be memorized this quarter.

Everyone received grade cards last week.

The "A" Agriculture class are starting the study of hogs.

The "A" reading class have started their study of "The Christmas Carol," by Dickens.

Maryville Boy Uses Rubber Dagger, Red Ink, in "Crime"

(From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch).

Junior law students of St. Louis University were listening to a lecture by Prof. C. C. Wheaton at 10 a. m. Wednesday when Leo Halasey(a member of the class got up to open a window. Another law student, John Casey, jr., edged near Halasey and they had angry words.

For several days prior to this outburst they had been engaged in an apparent feud, and the startled class watched them in apprehensive silence. Suddenly Casey struck Halasey a blow, knocking him aside, and the classmates saw Halasey draw what appeared to be a knife and stab Casey.

Groaning, Casey slumped to the floor, a red stain spreading over his shirt front. Halasey pushed frantically through a group of students near the door and escaped.

Class Thrown Into Confusion.

Immediately the class room was thrown into utmost confusion. Some of the students started after Halasey. Three rushed to Casey's sid and panicky at the sight of the red stain, they carried him to the administration office. Word of the tragedy spread through the school. Members of the faculty hurried to the scene and Dean Alphonse Eberle of the Law School tried to assemble the frightened students for an investigation.

Someone remembered that police should be called and at this juncture the stricken Casey ceased groaning and laughed.

The "blood" had come from a bottle of red ink. The "knife" was a rubber dagger. Halasey and Casey had faked bitter enmity. It was all in fun.

"We wished to demonstrate the general inaccuracy of eyewitness accounts," announced Prof Wheaton, who was the only other man beside the two students in on the secret.

A Dozen Different Versions.

Most of the eyewitnesses looked sheepish. They had told a dozen different versions of what had occurred.

Senior law students will be required to interview all the witnesses and prepare cases for the prosecution and defense in a mock trial to be held within two weeks. Halasey is charged with "assault with intent to kill." Casey will appear against him as the State's chief "witness."

His story and the stories told by other eyewitnesses vary amusingly, and Prof. Wheaton considers it was worth throwing the university into consternation to show his students that eyewitness testimony may be very unreliable.

Leo Halasey is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Halasey of this city. He is taking law at St. Louis University and working at night in the St. Louis postoffice.

The football team being slightly handicapped by scholaristic records of some of its players reminds the writer that unless some awaken to the realization something more than a football team will be handicapped.

Coach C. W. Croy is quite a story teller. His jokes are so original. They're not "Pat and Mike" cracks either. He's the first member of the faculty to ever present a joke in student assembly that didn't include the two Irishmen.

Last week-end Ralph Hudson drove to Cameron to see the football game. On his return trip, one mile out of Bolckow, a black cat crossed the road and Ralph worried all the rest of the way. He's not superstitious, but—?

Students in public speaking class are subject to a great deal of criticism in their speech work. Its a good thing the atmosphere is most friendly in the class. The criticism members of the class tax upon their subjects is enough to induce a fist fight or "hair-pulling" stunt.

Miss August Quell has high hopes in the lower classmen. The work they are doing in her English classes bespeaks that M. H. S. will have its day for good English yet. They said that about the lower classmen in 1919.

The third annual Homecoming will be celebrated next Friday. It comes later this year than in the case of the first two years. Some students were beginning to think those in charge were getting some of the Coolidge conservatism and celebrate the third homecoming with the fourth annual one.

J. M. Lockhart, the school's right-hand man and he's a good one too, thinks the world of the students but he wonders why they insist upon making him work so hard so long as there are waste-cans for scraps of paper.

The student president was asked to explain to some of the freshmen what "Homecoming" at M. H. S. was. The student officer declined the request on the grounds he didn't take high school freshmen to be that ignorant. "If they don't know what Homecoming Day is, the time is near at hand when they will know. They can find out the same way I did."

Debate Schedule.

The Barnard High School debating league has received its schedule. The team, Nellie Donaldson and George Hargrave, will debate Sheridan, November 30, Harmony, December 7, and Conception, December 14. The place of debating and the side of the question has not been announced.

Fair Called Off.

The fair which was to have been held by the Quitman Public Schools has been called off on account of bad roads, according to Hubert Garrett, superintendent. No efforts have been made to raise funds to conduct the fair, it was announced.

JUDITH MARTIN, teaching her first year at Pendleton University, is kissed by ERIC WATERS, on a bet.

DR. PETER DORN also seeks her acquaintance.

MYRA ALDRICH, living at Judith's boarding house, learns that Eric, with whom she is in love, has kissed Judith and breaks off friendly relations with her.

Escaping from a dull faculty tea, Judith hikes into the country with Eric and dines at a roadhouse. It is raided and they escape in a rainstorm to a cabin where Judith is to spend the night, while Eric walks back to town.

Next morning Eric returns with his car, bringing fresh clothing for Judith, which he has asked Myra to pack for him. She reproaches him for telling Myra of the escapade.

The following night, when Judith returns from the movies with Will Wetherel, Will warns her to be careful of Myra hears of the escapade and tries to prejudice Dr. Dorn by hinting of it to him.

Eric takes Judith to dinner at his fraternity house, where WILL WETHEREL makes an embarrassing reference to the raid.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIII.

It should have been a moment altogether painful. But Judith only smiled light-heartedly at Will. The professor was looking at his plate.

The chaperone was not content to drop the conversation, though she had ignored Will's reference to the roadhouse. "Pendleton is full of dangerous radicals," she said. "The young folk nowadays discard Christianity, as soon as they get into college. I suppose it is the sciences that are to blame."

Dr. Dorn shook his head. "Where science collides with Genesis, a broader interpretation of Genesis will do the work. It certainly isn't necessary to discard the Christian principles of brotherly love and clean living just because geology and astronomy have told us something new about those seven days of the creation."

Eric laid down his salad fork with a clatter. He was imperfectly veiling his disgust. "Brotherly love," he said, "contradicts every law of survival. And as for clean living—as you understand it—it means only half living."

There was a great silence over the table, until the song leader struck up one of the usual dinner table chanteys about "The Sweetheart of Sigma Psi."

Every fraternity man except Eric opened his mouth wide and sang. Judith began to wonder when the stors of fraternity songs would run out and the guests be free to relax their faces from the wooden smile which they seemed bound to maintain during the singing.

"Damned silly childishness," muttered Eric. "Singing their own praises to tin-pan tunes, while the dinner guests wait for their dessert."

The chaperone rose after a bit, indicating that the meal was at an end.

Will Wetherel ran to Judith and caught her arm. "Come on, play the piano for us," he cried. Eric scowled, but Judith went with Will to the piano in the living room.

A masculine crowd gathered around, and the wavy-haired youth sat on the floor with his head against the piano leg, and mooned at her, singing plaintively, a half tone out of tune.

Dr. Dorn had taken a chair nearby and was watching her gravely. The other feminine guests had mobilized on a far davenport and were studiously not listening to the music.

Judith's fingers ran on from Irving Berlin to Cadman and then to Debussy and Grieg. The crowd was very quiet.

The music was rudely interrupted. Eric appeared out of nowhere and stalked to the piano. "Sorry to spoil this parlor recital," he said, "but Eve's party is waiting for us outside."

Eric took Judith to the staircase that led to the chaperone's room. "You should have had your shoes changed on time, instead of playing the piano," he complained.

"Jealous infant," she taunted, as she ran upstairs.

The evening had been perfect. The men were jealous and the women envious.

"Where's Billy Boy?" called Eve from her post on the top step, as Eric and Judith came out of the house. Eve was leaning against a pillar, idly puffing at a cigaret. She was in brown tweeds, with a tam o'shanter cap on the side of her golden head.

"Here I am yelled that young man, leaping through the doorway into the center of the group around Eve. He was carrying some sort of musical instrument under his arm.

"Well, if he isn't wearing the riding suit again," said Eric. "Expect to meet a horse tonight Wetherel?"

Will ignored him. He was bending over to finish lacing his picturesque knee boots.

They set out southward toward the athletic field, Eve walking between two swains at the head of the procession, and the others following in twos and threes. The night was clear and cold, with a black velvet, star-studded sky.

Eric walked moodily beside Judith. She could hardly keep her feet from dancing. At last she broke the silence. "You don't think the admiration of those morons at the frat house meant anything, did you? Gad! Their sheep's eyes and their bawlings around that piano. I felt ashamed for you."

Wetherel dropped back to walk with them, and Judith giggled to herself as Eric's breathing became shorter and angrier.

"I'm going to sing to you tonight, Judy," caroled Will, "as I've never sung to woman. And if you don't melt to the strains of my lute, I'll jump off Lover's Leap in my despair."

"Excellent idea," said Eric. "You'll fall into Farmer Jones' pig pen at the foot of the cliff."

Wetherel and Judith laughed.

Eve and her companions had gone far ahead and the three loiterers hurried to overtake them. They climbed a hill that led to the precipice overlooking the broad meadow of the Little Coon river, and found Eve standing on a high table of rock at the summit.

"Hurry," she called. "The moon will be up in about five minutes." They broke into a run. Eric ran alone, leaving Wetherel to aid Judith. They trought up breathlessly beside the van guard.

Below them, toward the east, the blackness was thick and limitless. Judith stepped a little farther from the edge, and shivered slightly. She glanced around the little circle, now strangely silent. Then she started. "Will," she said in a low tone, "there were ten of us when we started, and now there are eleven!"

"You counted wrong," said Will, absently. He was taking his ukulele out of its case.

"There she comes," shouted someone, pointing eastward.

All eyes turned toward the moonrise. A faint red fan was spreading on the eastern horizon. Between it and the cliff the invisible meadow brooded and an invisible stream made little lapping noises audible to the party on the rock.

"The moon is a red blood lantern carried on a long stick by an old mandarin," said Wetherel, striking a chord.

"Shut up," snapped Eric, from across the circle.

But Wetherel continued to strum on the ukulele. The red disk climbed slowly to full view, and the meadow below filled with the pale reflection.

Wetherel stepped close to Judith. "You and the moon," he whispered. "Two gorgeous red-heads."

He struck up a ringing accompaniment on the ukulele, droning the words in a shaky tenor.

"For heaven's sake, Will," protested Eve, "don't sing."

He gave her a hurt look. The rest of the party sat in silence, while the moon climbed up the arch of the eastern sky. Wetherel's minor strains died away.

There was a sharp noise as Eric sprang to his feet. "Well, where's the far-famed bottle Kitty was going to provide?" Someone handed him a bottle, and Eve called out, "Easy there Eric. This party has a long walk home. Better keep your wits clear."

Eric laughed harshly. "I know how to take care of myself." He was walking restlessly around the rock table. Judith turned her back on him.

A moment later he stepped between her and Wetherel. "When are you going to stop mooning over that fop and making a fool of me?" he demanded.

Judith answered sweetly, smiling up at him. "Make a fool of you? It can't be done. You've made a fool of yourself."

Eve was seated near the edge of the cliff, leaning her head against a tree stump. Her eyes followed the moon. "Lucky little planet that," she mused to Judith. "All dead. No warmth, no rain, no seas, no rivers, no plants, no animals—and no ugly little human beings crawling over it."

"That's a dismal outlook," said Judith.

Eve sat up suddenly and looked at her. "You're the first woman I've liked in a long time, Miss Martin. And I didn't mean to like you. You see, you've grabbed too many men at once. But I don't believe you schemed to do it.

"Still, you're dangerous. Eric, Will and Peter Dorn are falling for you. I'm not worried about Eric's getting hurt. He can take care of himself. Will hasn't the capacity to be damaged seriously. But Peter Dorn is in dire peril of having his life smashed by a reckless young woman who doesn't give a fig for him."

"Nonsense," said Judith, but she flushed uncomfortably.

The rest of the party had made a small bonfire at the edge of the woods, and their shrieks over the marshmallow toasting floated out to the two women at the endge of the cliff.

"Ow, that burnt my tongue!" they heard Will moan, and feminine laughter followed his complaint.

Eve rose and walked toward the bonfire. "Hush," she said. They listened. The bells of the far-off campus were striking midnight.

There was a general scramble for hats and sweaters. The boys were stamping out the fire. "Judith," called Eve, "you and Eric come along." Eric and her cohort began to walk slowly down the hill.

Judith rose and stood looking at the moon for one last moment. She could hear Eric's footsteps among the trees at her left, where he had been sulking for the last hour.

The voices of the rest of the party sounded very faintly, then died away altogether.

Judith turned. The person who stepped out of the trees was not Eric. He was short and thick-set, and even in the pale moonlight, she recognized the heavy jowl and plaid necktie of the man she had seen on the Granville road, the night of the raid.

He jerked a thumb over his shoulder. "Your friend Waters is asleep under a tree back there," he said. "Had too much Scotch, I guess."

He grinned at her in the moonlight.

(To Be Continued).

An ugly character discloses itself in the next chapter, one that is destined to make trouble for Judith.

BLOOMFIELD SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hollensbe expect to move into their new home soon.

The strong winds wrecked our basketball goals Monday night.

John McClurg sent a load of hogs to market Tuesday.

Ivan McClurg has been absent from school this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Avey and son Charles, Mrs. Jess Wintermute and daughter, Angline of Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. Will McDowell and family and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Crane and family were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Thompson and family Sunday.

The B class is fixing the sand table to represent an early settlement in the days of the Pilgrims and Indians.

The Agriculture class is taking a survey of the district for the purpose of finding out what each farmer owns or rents and how much land he is operating. This report is to be turned over to the Secretary of the M. F. A. of Nodaway County.

A party is to be given at the Thomas McClurg home Thursday evening.

SUNRISE SCHOOL

Our box supper, which was held Friday, Oct. 29, was a success. The house was packed and there were several boxes and pies. We made $38.45. Much credit is due our Auctioneer, Mr. Will Osborne.

The "B" Language class had a debate Friday. The question was, "Resolved that a dog is more useful than a pony." Velva Cassel and Rosellin Workman were on the Affirmative and Florine Snyder and Marjorie Dempsey were on the Negative. The Affirmative won.

Lawrence Riley has purchased a new Ford coupe.

"The "B" History class have been reading some very interesting Bible stories in connection with the study of Christianity.

Helen Carmichael, our only first grader, has completed four primers and one first reader.

She started on her next one this week.

Mr. C. W. Rogers, who taught commerce at the college, visited our school last Wednesday and gave a very interesting talk on Penmanship.

The Agriculture Class has been studying hogs and learning the different cuts of a hog.

The "B" Physiology class has been using some material obtained from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., in connection with the other class work.

In our reading tests given last week, the "A" class had increased their rate and comprehension about 30 per cent The "B" class had increased in rate about 20 per cent.

The lady that left the pie pan at the school house at our box supper, may have it by calling for it or telling some of the children whom it belongs to.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Snyder and Betty Lou spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Will Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dempsey and family spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Strauch.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Snyder, Ernest McDowell and Bert Moore, helped Will Dempsey saw wood Saturday.

Mr. Will Ritter is sick again. They had the doctor for him Thursday morning.

Miss Doris David spent last weekend at the Theodore Logan home east of Orrsburg.

Queen Marie Adopts Favorite U. S. Dishes

New York, Nov. 13.—Substitution on the royal table of such typically American dishes as corn fritters, fried chicken, apple pie, and ice cream to replace her native marmaliga, ciorba and iaurt has received the stamp of approval by Queen Marie, of Rumania.

Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana, as well as Her Majesty, have enthusiastically adopted two American habits, ice water and ice cream, and these are served to them each day during the course of their visit.

Class Makes Airplane.

A three-foot model airplane recently was completed by the physics class of the Guilford High School. It is guaranteed to fly 600 feet. The boys of the class did the construction work and the girls covered and varnished the wings and body.

Lower Prices Seen on Farm Products

Wheat, Corn, Hogs, Partly Finished Cattle And Stock Cattle Trend Downward In November.

Manhattan, Kan., Nov. 13.—Lower market price on wheat, corn, hogs, partly finished cattle, and stock cattle are the immediate outlook for Kansas and Missouri farmers according to the monthly forcast of market trends for November issued today by the department of agricultural economics and their extension division of the Kansas State Agricultural College.

Seasonal influences, resulting from increased market supplies will probably be the dominant factor affecting prices of farm products in Kansas during the next 30 days, according to the forecast.

In the United States the general level of farm prices continues downward trend during the month ending October 15. Cotton and cotton commodities showed slight increases but there is nothing in the movement or in the prospects for the future trends of prices which would indicate changes other than seasonal trends.

Industrial activities and trade continued good. The general price level for all commodities has been slightly upward since the week of October 8. This may be possibly be the beginning of a period of rising prices.

A farmer at Neosho while investigating an underground spring on his farm found an eyeless transparent fish, apparently of the catfish variety. The fish swims about and seems perfectly natural in every way except that every bone in its body can be seen. It has no provision made for eyes.

Closing Grain Review,

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Heavy buying by millers and export buyers failed to swerve wheat from its headlong downward plunge and this grain nearly equaled yesterday's drastic descent of nearly 3 cents. Other grains were caught in the undertow of wheat except corn, which resisted wheat's influence.

Wheat closed 1⅝ to 1¾ cents lower, and now is nearly 8 cents under its recent high price. Spot prices were 1 cent lower.

Corn held firm, closing unchanged to ⅛ cent higher. Cash prices were 1 cent lower.

Oats closed ¾ to ⅝ cents lower. Cash prices were ½ cent lower.

WARRENSBURG LEADS OTHERS

MULES HAVE PERFECT PERCENTAGE IN M. I. A. A.

BEARS SWAMPED, 44-7

Kirksville Defeats Springfield Yesterday.—Bearcats In Third Place In Conference Standing.

Kirksville, Mo., Nov. 13.—The Kirksville Teachers College Bulldogs sent the Springfield Teachers College Bears down to defeat by a 44 to 7 score here yesterday afternoon, maintaining the second place in the M. I. A. A. and defeating the Bears for the first time in football history.

Kirksville outplayed Springfield the entire game until the last of the fourth quarter when the Bears scored against a team of second line men.

The Warrensburg Mules are now leading the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association in football. They have one more game to play, and a victory in this, with Cape Girardeau, would give them a clear record and a perfect percentage in the conference loop.

Warrensburg is the only team in the conference which has not lost a game. Should Cape Girardeau defeat the Mules next week, there would be a tie for first place in the M. I. A. A. between Warrensburg and Kirksville, now second place team.

Kirksville has been the scoring team of the conference, and Warrensburg has been the team scored least against. The Northwest Missouri gridders have piled up a total of 129 points in their four conference games to 33 scored against them. Warrensburg has scored 38 points and opponents of the Mules have totaled 12 points.

Maryville is in third place with a 50-50 standing. The Bearcats have scored 24 points in conference games and their opponents have scored 72.

Springfield has lost three games and won one. Her point total is 13, while opponents points are 54. Cape Girardeau is in cellar position with no victories and three defeats. The points are 10 for Cape and 43 for opponents.

Each team in the M. I. A. A. meets each other team. That means that all have the same chance at a championship.

Following is the percentage table:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Warrensburg	3	0	1.000
Kirksville	3	1	.750
Maryville	2	2	.500
Springfield	1	3	.250
Cape Girardeau	0	3	.000

Pickering Five Wins From Worth, 28 to 4

Both Were Champions Of Their Respective Counties.—Winning Machine Slow To Get Under Way.

Pickering High School, champion of Nodaway County, defeated Worth High, champion of the county by the same name, in basketball last night, 28 to 4. The game was more hotly contested than the score indicates. Pickering's scoring machine of Lett, McGinness, and McKee, did not get under way until the last half.

The score:

PICKERING—(28)	FG	FT
Lett, f	5	2
McGinness, f	4	0
McKee, c	2	3
Garten, g	0	0
Swaney, g	0	1

Hopkins and Parnell Divide Doubleheader

Bouncing Betties Win a Close One, 26-25, While Bulldogs Take Fast Contest by 17-10 Score.

Hopkins and Parnell high school basketball teams divided a doubleheader last night at Hopkins, when the Parnell girls and the Hopkins boys were winners.

Both games were fast, the Hopkins boys winning by a score of 17-10 and the Parnell girls by the narrow margin of 26-25. The box scores of the two games follows:

Girl's Game

Parnell (26)	Position	Hopkins (25)
L. Cox	f.	Andrews
Auffert	f.	Hall
D. Cox	f.c.	Hoxworth
Prather	r.c.	Miller
Jones	g.	Perry
Sharp	g.	Winters
	g.	M. Cox

Field goals (2 points), L. Cox, 5; Auffert 3, Andrews, 5 Hall 6.

Field goals (1 point), Auffert, 4; Hall, 1.

Free throws, L. Cox, 6; Andrews, 2.

Boys' Game.

Hopkins (17)	Position	Parnell (10)
Mutti	f.	Cox
Gates	f.	Holton
Sayler	f.	Welch
	f.	Bateman
Baker	c.	Sharp
	c.	Harris
	c.	Hammond
Pistole	g.	Batson
Wallace	g.	Walts
	g.	Miller

Field goals: Mutti, 2; Sayler, 1; Baker, 2; Pistole, 1; Cox, 1; Holton, 1; Sharp, 1.

Free throws: Mutti, 1; Sayler, 1; Baker, 3; Cox, 1; Welch 2, Walts, 1.

Referee, both games, Baldwin.

The girls' game was especially exciting. The Bouncing Betties (Parnell) led 20-9 at the end of the first half, but the Hopkins girls staged a great comeback in the second half and tied the score a minute before the game ended. A free toss just as the final gun was fired gave victory to Parnell.

The Parnell teams will play the Parnell Alumni on the eve of Thanksgiving, November 24.

Civil War Veterans Live in Town of Own

In Fort Dodge, Kan., They Spend Waning Years In Peace, Living Almost Entirely In Past.

Dodge City, Kan., Nov. 13.—There is a "city of dreams" near here, populated by a handful of elderly men and women who live almost entirely in the past.

It is Fort Dodge, Kan., where veterans of the Civil and Spanish-American Wars live a tranquil, undisturbed life with their wives and where the widows of those who fell during or after the battles live.

Fort Dodge is a picturesque little village. There is a drowsiness about it which imparts an air of peace even to the casual visitor. There is no hustle of business there, quite in contrast to the town of a few years ago when Fort was one of the most important of all the government trading posts.

It is a city of reminiscences. Modern problems do not disturb the residents here. When there are little groups of the veterans congregated it is talk of the days of yesterday which occupies their time, not the modern problems of the country.

There are two modern buildings recently erected at the entrance to the Fort, but the rest of the place is nearly as it was in the 80's. The white-haired women move sedately about their affairs in the dress of several years ago, and their white-haired husbands wander over the grounds in the uniforms which were used for ceremonies and dress parades.

Peace eminates from the very trees over the grounds. "Contentment" seems to be written over the area as the visitor catches his first glimpse of the vine-covered porches where the white-bearded veterans smoke their pipes and discuss the glories of the past.

Miss Mayme Heflin of the county extension agent's office, went to St. Joseph today.

Testify for State in Hall-Mills Case

Mrs. Mary Demarest, shown on the stand at the Hall-Mills trial, declared she saw Henry Stevens in New Brunswick, N. J., on the morning following the double murder, contradicting his story of his whereabouts.

Henry L. Dickman, army deserter and former New Jersey state trooper, testified in the Hall-Mills trial that he received $2500 to leave New Jersey after the murders of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Florence Mills.

Mrs. Anna K. Bearman, cousin of Mrs. Francis S. Hall, was among those called as state witnesses during the Hall-Mills murder trial.

SOVIET TURNS TO FAR EAST

RECENT RUSSIAN MOVES ARE VIEWED WITH SOME ALARM.

AN ASIATIC LEAGUE?

With Western Boundary Secured by Treaties, Some Such Move Is Regarded Probable.

By KEITH JONES.
(United Pres Staff Correspondent).

London.—British students of international politics are viewing with some concern the trend of Rusia's recent political alliances, aiming, it is believed here, at the eventual creation of some sort of Asiatic or semi-Asiatic League of Nations.

By a series of non-aggresion pacts Rusia has already made or is now attempting to effect between herself and Finland, Lithuania, Latvia, Poland, Yugoslavia and Rumania whereby Russia agrees not to attack them in return for their agreement neither to attack Russia or permit the passage of foreign troops through their territory in any action against Russia, British writers believe Russia is laying the ground-work for economic and political expansion to the south and east. With a solid line of countries along her western border pledged to neutrality, Russia, it is said would be able to turn her attention to Asiatic politics with a freer mind than would be possible with a hornets' nest of antagonistic neighbors along her 2,000 miles of European frontier. For this reason it is considered not improbable in some quarters that the Soviet may soon abandon its quarrel with Rumania over Bessarabia in return for the latter's guarantee of neutrality in the event of any Russia quarrel with France, Germany or England.

But the Soviet diplomats have not waited for the consolidation of a complete line of neutral neighbors to the west before undertaking what is interpreted as their larger diplomatic aim the creation of a political and economic entente with the Asiatic and semi-Asiatics. Already secret agreements have been signed between Russia and Turkey, Russia and Persia and Russia and Afghanistan. According to the information given the press these treaties are purely in the nature of commercial agreements; but the exact text of the treaties is known only to the cabinets and diplomats of the governments involved, and it is suspected here that buried in the text are alliance clauses of high political importance.

It is an open secret here that Russia is playing a high hand in Chinese politics, and is blamed by British interests in China for four-fifths of the depression in British busines in the Orient where for more than a year things have gradually been going from bad to worse. If the factions backed by Russia should come out victorious at the end of the Chinese conflict, it is regarded as very probable that Russia would play upon Chinese dissatisfaction with certain phases of the League of Nations and urge her withdrawal.

This effected, it is regarded as logical that Russia should invite China to join her 400,000,000 population with Russia's 180,000,000 and organize in the East a new league to off-set the power of the League of Nations to the West. Turkey, a non-league nation, would, it is surmised be invited to join as would also any dissatisfied Asiatic. It is noteworthy in this respect that the Chinese minister at Washington was recently reported to be in Angora conferring with the Turkish government concerning the prospective signing of a new Turko-Chinese agreement, the exact terms of which if in line with the Russo-Turkish agreement, would undoubtedly also be kept secret.

With Russia outspoken in its antagonism to "Capitalistic" Europe on the West and China antagonistic to the power and growth of Japan on the East, the eventual merging of the two great nations between the leagues two territorial extremes together with the countries bordering on the south who would come in as a matter of self-protection, is regarded here as a logical and not unnatural future development in world politics.

MARYVILLE TIRE COMPANY MISSOURI

Most of Ice Cream Consumed Is Vanilla

New York, Nov. 12—Vanilla is by far the most popular ice cream flavor. Manufacturers representing an annual production of nearly 84,000,000 gallons report that 55 per cent of the output is vanilla; 10 per cent chocolate; nearly 8 per cent strawberry, and nearly 27 per cent of other flavors.

More than 88 per cent of ice cream is sold in bulk form. Contrary to general belief drug stores sell about half as much ice cream as do confectionery stores.

Elected to Executive Committee.

D. E. Carmichael of Pickering and Noland Dunham of Maryville were elected members of the executive committee of the 356th infantry at a reunion held in Kansas City Thursday night.

Roll Call Chairman.

Cuts Gas Bills in Half

Low first cost is only part of your saving on an Overland Whippet.

Its outstanding economy of 30 miles on a gallon of gasoline . . . well over 1,000 miles on a gallon of oil . . . with the smallest tax rating of any car in America today cuts present operating costs just about in half. And doubles the value of every dollar you now spend for upkeep.

In a recent economy driving test in Chicago 1308 contestants averaged 31.8 miles per gallon . . . the winner averaged 47.2 miles per gallon. And scores of Whippets were sold as the result of this demonstration.

In fairness to yourself, think of economy before buying any light car today.
